Dom Predo.

The Emperor and Empress, accompanied by their suite, arrived in St. Louis on Wednesday morning, and took up their quarters in the Lindell Hotel. Their Majesties, after a short stay at the hotel, drove out to visit important points of interest in the city. His Majesty made his first visit to the magnificent new Exchange, where his arrival created considerable excitement among the merchants. The vast proportions of the building rather surprised His Majesty, and he displayed considerable interest in its system and working. He afterward went to the new Custom House and was not a little amazed to find a sensible people erecting a massive and costly structure on a mud foundation. He remarked in connection with this subject that it would have been very n:uch wiser to put up an iron building for the purpose of a custom house, which could be done at one-fourth the cost.

When it was suggested to His Majesty that the American people built for a remote pos-terity His Majesty replied: "But an iron building would last for 400 years, and you do not mean to tell me that there will be any custom houses in 400 years?"

From the unfinished structure which is to be the custom house the imperial party proceeded to visit the Insane Asylum, where there are some 300 unfortunates confined. The want of proper means for heating the sleeping rooms of the inmates during the winter was commented on by His Majesty, who also found that the bathing facilities of the establishment were lamentably deficient. The system of personal restraint he also condemned, although it was evident that it was used with judgment and humanity. The Emperor considered that it was better to place vicient prisoners in separate cells and have them wholly free from bond or shackle.

When asked how the Insaue Asylum compared with similar institutions in his own country he said that the asylum at Rio Janeiro was conducted on a much better system. The poor house, with its large number of idle dwellers and a mass of insane prisoners, who presented a miserable spectacle, did not make a very favorable impression on the Emperor's mind.

The most agreeable visits were mad: to the public library and the Normal School. The students in the latter establishment went through a series of exercises, keeping time to mus c, which interested very much the imperial visitors lu the evening Their Majesties went to the theatre, where they were well received by the people. To-morrow the imperial party will leave for New Orleans on board the steamboat Republic, and expect to reach their descination on Monday .- New York Herald.

A CINCINNATI MISER .- A. Sulpius, who formerly kept a drug shop at No. 440 Walcut street, Cincinnati, and did a little medical practice in his back room, has returned to his old home in Germany. For twenty-five years he had drudged away in that little shop, and all the time had been a confirmed miser. His wealth was reck-ned at the bank just before his departure. He had $4,000 in silver and over $16,000 in gold, nearly all of which he had carried through the war, untempted by premiums or offers of interest. At the close of the war, when his confidence in the government was restored, he consented to invest $15,-100 of his coin in bonds, and these also he had with him at the bank. His greenbacks and gold notes, all mildewed and mouldy, counted up $18,000. Some of the coupons on his bonds had been unclipped from the beginning, and in the lot was a large amount in ten forties on which interest ceased in 1872. He had his money sent in parcels, by separate consignments, on different steamers, and took only a small portion of it on his own person.

DURING the height of excitement in a certain church in the western part of the city, one evening last week, says the Leavenworth Times, a little child about four years old was noticed to leave its mother, and in a noisy man ner to perambulate the yarious aisles, as if in search of some one. At last, giving a cry of "Oh, mamma, here's papa!" rushed into the lap of an unmarried gentleman, whose feelings, it is to be presumed, can be better imagined than described, when it is known that the mother of the child is well known to those present as a dashing widow, to whom the young man for some time past has been paying considerable attention. He did not remain unof the close of the sermon, at any rate, and for a while more laughter than tears agitated the

THERE is one thing on which a husband and wife never have and never can agree, and that is on what constitutes a well beaten carpet. When the article is clean it's a man's impression that it should be removed, and he be allowed to wash up and quietly revire. But a woman's appetite for carpet beating is rever appeased while a man has a whole muscle is his body. And if he waited notil she voluntarily gave the signal to stop he might boat away until he dr pped down dea i. It is directly owing to his superior strength of mind that the civilized world is not a widow this day.
